

Q-Notes Guide

Directions: Turn chapter titles, subheadings, and topic sentences into questions.
Write these on the left. Write answers to your questions on the right.
Use bullets, dashes, symbols, abbreviations, or jotted notes for your answers.

Questions	Answers

Land Biomes: Content Assessment

Directions: Use what you have learned about land biomes to answer the questions below.

Chapter 1

1. Areas with similar _____ develop similar communities of living beings.
2. If you wanted to live in a country that is warm most of the year, where would you look on a globe to find such a place? Explain why.
3. Several factors influence the climate of a biome. Name at least three.

Chapter 2

4. Which type of biome covers more of Earth's surface than any other type of biome?
5. Use the chart below to compare and contrast each pair of biomes.
(Include at least two examples for each pair.)

desert	tropical rain forest

grassland	tundra

Name _____

Date _____

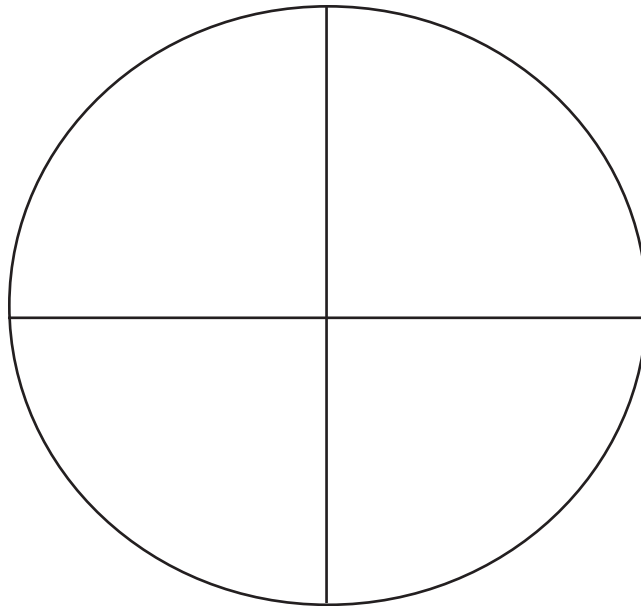

6. The North American continent has several biomes, including a large area of grasslands. Which country in North America has the largest area of grassland?

7. What or who is the biggest factor affecting land biomes?

8. If you wanted to limit the effects of aluminum mining on land environments, what are two things you might do?

9. A climograph allows scientists to study climate changes over time. Why is that information important?

10. In each quadrant of the concept circle below, write a type of harmful human activity discussed in Land Biomes and explain how it harms Earth.

What can you conclude about people's activities that are affecting Earth?